A LEVELS AT MAGNO 2025-2026

OUR HEADTEACHER

GLOBAL LEARNING, INSPIRING CHANGE

As Headteacher of Magno International School, I am proud to introduce a new and exciting chapter in our educational journey: the launch of our Magno A-Level Online Pathway. This initiative represents much more than an academic programme — it is the result of thoughtful planning to create a version of Sixth Form that truly reflects who we are and what our students need.

We understand that the transition to pre-university education brings new challenges, particularly in terms of time management, academic focus, and language demands. That is why we have designed a blended model that combines the flexibility and academic rigour of the A-Level online curriculum with the warmth, support, and values that define us at Magno.

This isn't a generic online course — it's our Magno version of A-Levels. Our students will benefit from a personalised and structured experience, with continuous guidance, opportunities for enrichment, and strong links to our school culture. We are committed to ensuring that, even in this new format, our students feel part of a community, continue developing key life skills, and are fully supported as they prepare for university — in Spain or abroad.

We see this as an opportunity to lead, to innovate, and to empower.

"Opportunity is not something we wait for — it's something we create by daring to do things differently."

Rosa Maria Tortosa

WHAT ARE A LEVELS?

A Levels (Advanced Level Qualifications) are the British equivalent of the Baccalaureate (Year 12 and Year 13), recognised worldwide for their academic rigour and excellent preparation for university. Designed for students aged 16 to 18, A Levels allow for in-depth specialisation in subjects of interest, fostering independence, critical thinking, and academic mastery in key areas.

International Recognition

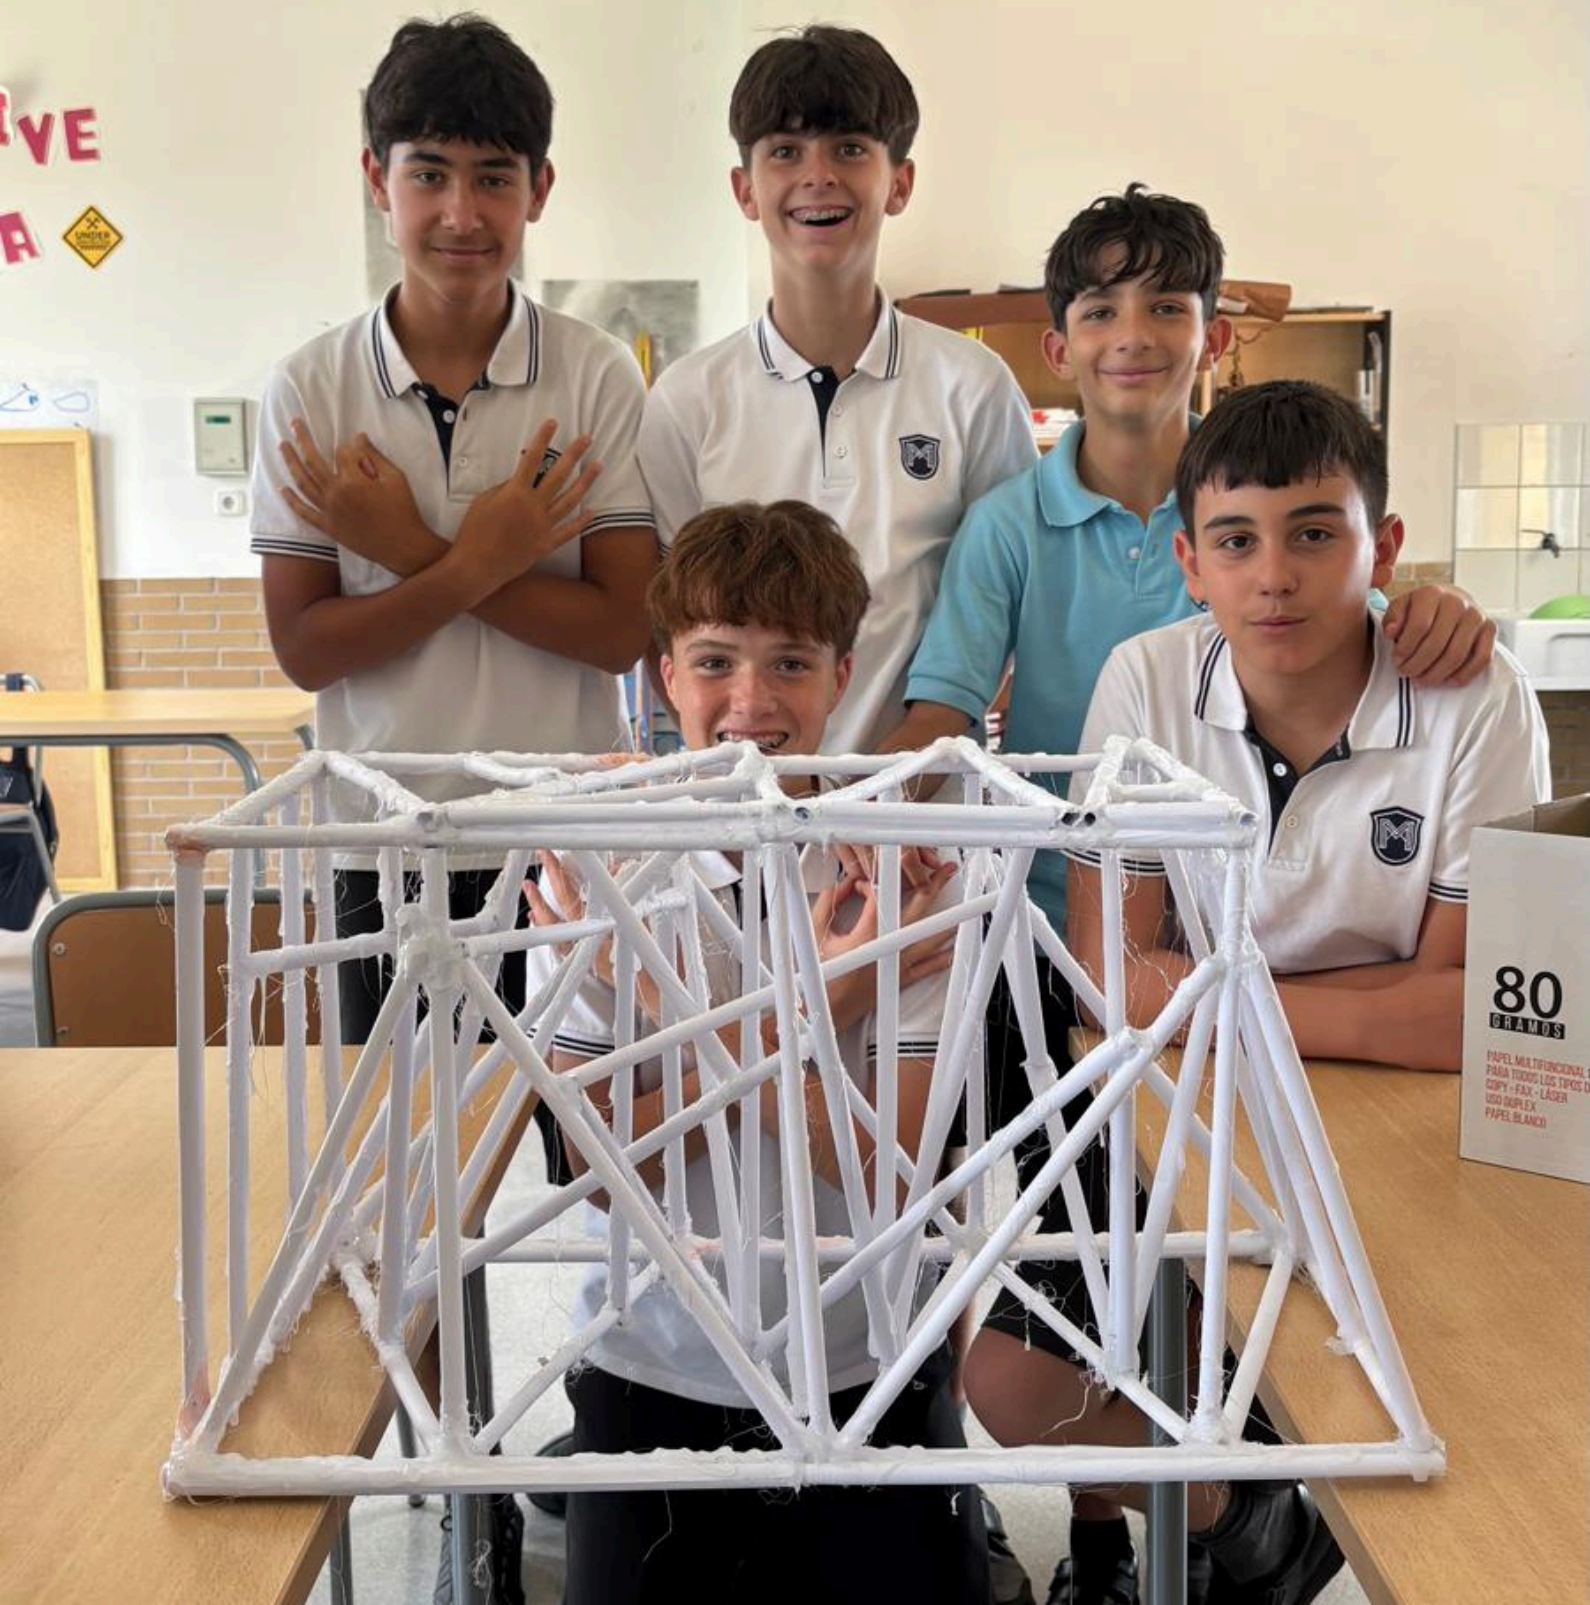

A Levels are highly regarded by universities in the UK, Europe, Canada, and the US, as well as by top-tier educational institutions worldwide. This qualification opens doors to global academic opportunities, facilitating entry into highly competitive degree programmes.

At MAGNO School, we offer A Levels in collaboration with the prestigious UK-based National Extension College (NEC), through a hybrid model that combines:

- Flexibility for students to progress at their own pace, without sacrificing academic rigour or human interaction.
- Development of student autonomy.

This unique approach allows students to experience the best of both worlds: a British education of excellence and the close support of their local school.

MAGNO A LEVELS: INTERNATIONAL PATHWAY

HOW A LEVELS ARE STRUCTURED AT MAGNO?

Alongside the Spanish Baccalaureate programme, MAGNO is launching an alternative pathway for students seeking a more international sixth-form experience: the MAGNO A LEVELS INTERNATIONAL PATHWAY.

Why Choose A Levels at MAGNO?

- Globally recognised qualification
- Direct entry to international universities
- Personalised support in a hybrid learning environment
- Development of high-level academic skills
- Flexibility, independence, and preparation for university life

What does this programme include?

Weekly Online
Classes
(6 online sessions per week)

Independent Study
Sessions
(Self study)

MAGNO Curriculum
Enrichment
(Cambridge exam
preparation, PE,
Extended Essay, and PSHE)

Students following this pathway will be assigned a personal mentor, offering academic support and assisting with their transition to the NEC's digital learning platform.

The programme integrates the Spanish Baccalaureate with an international focus, while students continue to belong to MAGNO's core school community.

PREPARATION FOR UNIVERSITY

ACCESS TO UNIVERSITY

SPANISH UNIVERSITY

Students enrolled in A Level programme at MAGNO can gain direct access to Spanish universities thanks to official recognition by the Ministry of Education.

Important note:

MAGNO does not offer preparation for the Pruebas de Competencias Específicas (PCE – Specific Skills Tests). As a result:

- The maximum university entrance score in Spain will be 10 out of 14 if the student only takes A Levels.
- To qualify for higher cut-off scores (up to 14 points), students may choose to sit PCE exams in two additional subjects independently, ideally with external support.

The entire admission process is managed through UNED (Universidad Nacional de Educación a Distancia), with guidance and support from our Head of Stage and School Secretary, who advises each student according to their academic goals.

UNIVERSITY ABROAD

A Levels are widely recognized by universities around the world as a rigorous and respected qualification. Originating in the UK, A Levels are now accepted by institutions in many countries including the United States, Canada, Australia, Germany, Singapore and the Netherlands. Each individual country and university will have different entry requirements, but all will look favourably on students who have successfully completed A level paths of study.

Students typically take A Levels in three to four subjects, and strong performance can open doors to top-tier universities where grades will be considered alongside other factors like personal statements, references, and standardized test scores (where applicable).
